CAREER TIPS

What Are The Best Future Job Opportunities In India Which Will Be In Demand?

1. Digital Marketing

Now, even a small business owner is trying to sell its products online via different e-commerce websites and online marketplaces, and with less than 50% of people in India having internet access, the market potential is huge as this number is increasing rapidly. And as this number will increase, the need for Digital Marketers will increase as well.

A good digital marketer is one who has good knowledge of Web Analytics, Social Media Platforms, Search Engine Optimisation and Advertisements, E-mail Marketing, and Algorithms used by Search Engines.

2. Robotic Engineer

According to the U.S. based global research and advisory company, Gartner, Robots will replace over 30% of jobs that are currently done by Humans as soon as by 2025. Also, Google's Director of Engineering, Ray Kurzweil predicts that by 2030, human thinking will go hybrid, which means it will be a mix of biological and Artificial Intelligence.

3. Actuarial Science

Actuaries are the people who undertake the maths and science of insurance which assesses worth, liabilities, and even risk among many other factors.

Also, with the Indian economy expanding, the need for Actuaries is also rising and will rise even further in the future.

4. Cyber Security

National Association of Software and Services Companies (NASSCOM) says that by the end of 2022 itself, India will have 10 lakh job openings for cybersecurity. Moreover, the U.S. firm Burning Glass Technologies Inc said that there is 12X growth in jobs for cybersecurity on the global level.

5. Back-end Developer

To become a back-end developer, one should have good knowledge on C++, C#, and Java. A back-end developer is not a future job opportunity per se, but with the advancement in technology, the demand is only going to increase.

6. Career Counselor

If we talk about the U. S. there are 26 lakh career counselors per 18 lakh candidates, and when we talk about India, there are just 500 registered counselors per 15 lakh candidates as per a report shared by The Hindu. This alone shows the vast opportunity that is there as a future job in career counseling.

7. Data Scientist

A Data scientist is involved in not only finding but also analysing the information that is necessary to build and grow a business. Earlier, the titans like Amazon, Google, Facebook, and Financial Institutions who use to feat the data of their customers and potential users but now every company understands that it is important to use the information of their customers to improve their products and services.

With this, Data Scientist professionals become a future job in India that one could prepare for.

8. Banking Career

The banking sector is going to take over 3rd position in the world as it is growing at a very fast pace, especially with the government owned public sector banks growing. And with this growth, the need of the employees in the banking sector is said to increase in the coming year.

9. Drone Operator

Forest Survey of India's Director General, Dr. Subhash Ashutosh says that drones are the latest technological addition to their data acquisition methodology. Many other organisations and companies are exploring the use of drones in their operations, like in accessing the severity of any disaster or mishappenings and much more.

With so much, it is said that the Drone industry in India will grow over $ 400 million by 2022, and with that, the requirement of drone operators will increase as well making it one of the best future jobs in India.

10. Dietician

Lately, the need for improving one's health and lifestyle has gained more popularity. Dieticians or also known as Nutritionists are the ones who have acquired knowledge about the human body and nutrition and can devise a diet plan which will help you achieve the desired goals unique to your body to reach the desired goal.

Increase in the desire of getting into good shape and reach good health has increased the need for dieticians as well, and thus making it one of the best future jobs in India that you can aim for.

11. Financial Planner

A good financial planner comes up with the best possible implementable plan where you have the least risks and get fruitful returns based on your capacity of risk-taking. A good financial planner is one who can make you money off of your money without you working for it.

12. Event Manager

They take care of things from the inception of the event until the guests leave and make money hands over fists too doing the same as people are willing to pay money to avoid the cumbersome tasks of doing it all, making it yet another one of the future job opportunities in India.

13. Interior Designer

With most of the people having to move out for the search of a better standard of living and jobs, the rise in need of interior designers is only going to rise, making it one of the best future jobs in India in the coming years.

14. Environment Management

According to the Council on Energy, Environment, and Water (CEEW), India, and National Resource Defence Council (NRDC), there will be 2 lakh and 10 lakh jobs in wind energy projects and solar energy projects in India, respectively.

15. Home Baker

16. Marriage Counselor

A marriage counselor works directly with the couple and tries to resolve the underlying issues. They even involve the families of the couple if the need arises, and in doing so they even earn a butt load of money-making is one of the future jobs in India that one can consider.

17. Machine Learning Professionals

Machine learning is an arm of Artificial Intelligence where the professional develops the system which has the ability to learn and grow by itself without the need for further programming.

Siri, Alexa, and even Google Assistant use the same technique to better themselves, and with the advancement of technology, the sky is the limit, making Machine Learning the pinnacle of future jobs in India.

18. Recruiter

A recruiter's job is to find the right talent who will be the right fit for the organisation. The negotiations and testing of the candidates are the vital roles that a recruiter has to take care of. In the past, the recruiters were deemed as the cost to a company, but now it is shifting as companies realise how important it is to attain an employee who not only has the right skill set but is also in harmony with the vision and culture of the company. Recruiters are not considered to be an asset to the company.

19. Physiotherapist

As technology advanced, it proved out to be a boon, but had its own curses too. As technology progressed, the need of human interventions in even the smallest of works is going out of fashion, like you can control almost all of the electronics in your home even when you are not in your home, with the help of remotes or AIs like Siri, Alexa, and even Google Assistant.

As people are now undertaking fewer laborious tasks, there has been a rise in injuries like cervical, still neck and back, joint pains, and even sports injury (especially, when you play it after long a gap). This change in lifestyle has not only bought ease but pain, too, to the human race.

A physiotherapist treats such injuries using both machines and physical methods which includes laser treatments, massages, and even hydrotherapy.

20. Full Stack Developer

A full stack developer or engineer is a mix of both back end and front end developer, which means that they are involved with both cosmetics end and under the hood end of a project. A full stack developer should have good knowledge of back end languages like JavaScript, CSS, HTML, PHP, Python and even with web design, User Interface (UI) development, user experience skills, database jobs, and servers as well.

Full Stack developers can handle all servers, clients, engineering, and even database jobs. Companies are now at a look-out for a person who is more of a “jack of all trades” and can take more responsibilities and complete them with effectiveness and full efficiency making it one of the best future jobs in India in the coming years.
